PRESS RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

National Log Home Company Featured on CNBC

On Wednesday, October 27, 2004, Kuhns Bros. Log Homes, Inc., a leader in the log home manufacturing industry, was highlighted on the CNBC Television Station. The segment was sparked by the increased log home sales, which account for 7% in the custom housing industry, and a Log Home Expo being held near the station's studios. Two custom log homes were featured – one beautifully decorated completed log home and one log home under construction. The footage showed how today's log homes aren't like those in Abraham Lincoln's days. Many are equipped with cathedral great rooms, expanses of glass, state-of-the art kitchens, exquisite master baths and much more.

Jennifer Cassini, Great Meadows, NJ, is an authorized sales representative for Kuhns Bros. Jennifer helped showcase the two homes featured in the CNBC program. During the broadcast, she told viewers how builders could easily plumb, heat, and wire these log homes with modern day technology.

Jason Goodman, Log Home & Timber Frame Expo, explained how the show serves as a one-stop-shop for anyone looking to gather information on log homes. In 2004, there will be over 30 national trade shows. Years ago there were just a few.

Kuhns Bros. Log Homes, Inc., with the 135-acre corporate headquarters located in Lewisburg, PA, remains a leading manufacturer in the log home industry. Kuhns Bros. products, quality, and service can be measured first hand by call 1-800-326-9614 or by visiting
